Gravity and magnetism are examples of force and energy fields that our lives depend on, yet the eye can't see them. Radio waves, Infrared, ultra violet, X-rays and gamma rays are all invisible waves that make up the Frequency Spectrum. The human eye is sensitive to a narrow band of frequencies called light.

Surrounding every living person is a vibrating Energy Field. It is an egg shaped pressure field that contains and characterises our individual consciousness as distinct from that of others and the universe at large. Other descriptions are, the human aura or electromagnetic body. Some scientists call it the unified field.

Fortunately, this field has a very bright, high energy spot on it that the trained eye can 'see'. This spot is the 'Stationary Assemblage Point'.

For most healthy people, the idea that, 'How we behave and how we feel' is beyond our rational control, is preposterous. For those of us, who have experienced a serious physical accident, disease, fever, tragedy, violent intimidation, drug overdose, acute stress or depression, this idea is acceptable. Under such circumstances many people undergo a personality change, often accompanied by unfamiliar physical symptoms and illness.

Suffers experience that 'something' deep inside them has changed. Although they can remember how they behaved and felt before the incident, it is impossible for them to return to their former self. That indescribable 'something' deep inside all of us that can suddenly shift, changing our whole perception of reality including our physical health is the 'Assemblage Point'.

The Assemblage Point is the vortex of high energy in the Electromagnetic Body. It is the location of the Assemblage Point that 'dictates' how we behave, how we feel and how we 'see' the world. Its location influences our conscious reality and greatly affects physical and mental health.

Inside the Core or the energy body are seven major energy vortexes or meridians. Acupuncture and Ayurvedic Medicine call them Chakras. The locations of these energy vortexes coincide with seven major glands and organs inside the body. The vibrational rate and the energy levels of the chakras influence the functioning and efficiency of their associated organs and glands. Chakras directly influence physical and mental health. A prime requirement before all seven chakras can open or function properly is; correct location and alignment of the Assemblage Point to the physical body.

Every one of us has an Assemblage Point and it is very easy to locate. The procedure for locating and correcting it is quick, simple and painless. Manipulation of the location of the Assemblage Point can change our state of consciousness, increase our biological energy levels and improve general health. Familiarity with its location and performing regular adjustments to it can accelerate personal development and improve mental and physical efficiency.

Correct alignment of the Energy Body with the physical body are vital for our physical and mental well-being. Figure 1 shows the correct alignment.

Violence, intimidation, bereavement, shock, accidents, trauma, drugs, toxins and illness can easily dislocate the energy body's alignment.

Depending on the severity and direction of the misalignment, various psychological and physical symptoms will be present.

Gross misalignment of the Energy Body is present in depression, various psychotic and psychological disorders. Drugs and alcohol addiction, toxicity, leukaemia, cancer, AIDS, ME, MS, schizophrenia, epilepsy, alzheimer's, coma, Parkinson's etc.

It is a simple matter to find out the alignment of a person's Energy Body by locating the Assemblage Point.

For optimum health and vitality, energies in the left and right sides of the brain are equal, and the Electromagnetic Field equally distributed about the body's central meridian line. The ideal location for the Stationary Assemblage Point is the central position, shown in Fig 1. In this position balanced biological energy flows around the central nervous system and the many organs and glands function in harmony.

This ideal alignment is rare. With most people the Assemblage Point will be found entering on the right side of the chest's central meridian line. This is due to excessive left brain activity, demanded by today's stressful life style.

TABLE 1

Drugs, Toxins, Illness, accidents and emotional trauma are the most common causes of misalignment. Once misalignment has occurred, it is very difficult to re-establish the original position by one's own efforts.

Neither orthodox nor complementary medicine has the knowledge or procedures to correct Electromagnetic Body alignment. Realignment is a simple procedure that takes about one minute to execute.

Misalignment causes mild to serious imbalances of energy distribution in the brain and nervous system, upsetting endocrine and hormone functions. The symptoms directly relate to the location and entry angle as in Fig 2. The further the location is outside the shaded area in Fig 2, the more acute the listed symptoms. The symptoms experienced will vary according to the location and the angle of entry. Severe misalignment causes acute disturbances in the functioning of the organs and glands. Eventually biological damage can occur.

Today, neither psychiatrists, psychologists nor counsellors can correct gross misalignment. The alignment of the Electromagnetic Body controls the way we feel, think, and our perception of reality. Correcting alignment is not possible by talking, thinking or, in acute cases with medication. Therefore the usual method is to employ drugs to relieve or mask the symptoms caused by misalignment.

Shifting the location of the Assemblage Point and adjusting the angle will alter the state of human consciousness.

The Human Electromagnetic Energy Field

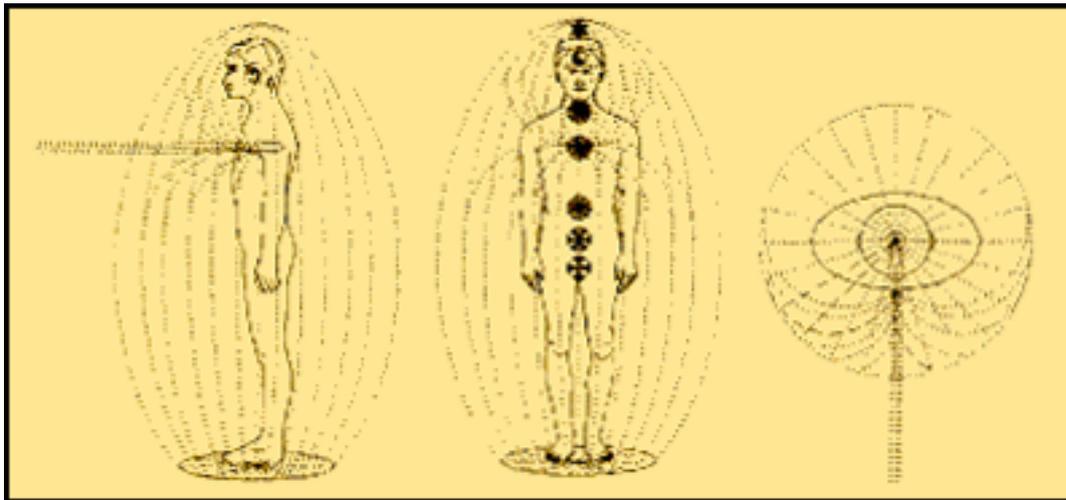

Fig 1 The vortex of the energy field is called THE STATIONARY ASSEMBLAGE POINT. The position shown is the location and alignment for optimum mental and physical health (organ and glandular synergy). Large deviations from this location can cause serious health problems.

- 2 Large deviations from the shaded are accompanied with the symptoms listed
- 3 Locations close to the Critical Line cause acute unease and discomfort

Assemblage Point Shift Below (Left Side)

Fig 6 Dementia, Alzheimers, Autism, Downs Syndrome, Etc.

Assemblage Point location affects brain energy levels and its predominant operating frequencies. The brain frequencies and states of consciousness are: -

1. Assemblage Point locations on the right side of the body (Fig.3) reflect an increase in left brain activity and Beta brain frequencies (extrovert attention).
2. Conversely, locations on the left body side (Fig 5) reflect in an increase in right brain activity and Theta frequencies (introvert attention).
3. The Central location (Fig 1) reflects as balanced brain activity and Alpha [relaxed internal and external attention].
4. Low locations (Fig 4 & 6) reflect in low frontal brain energy and low Alpha and Theta frequencies (right=depression left=catatonia).
5. High locations reflect in an increase in frontal brain energy and high Beta frequencies (right=psychosis left=hallucinations).

The Assemblage Point Location and its angle of alignment affect the state of the patient's consciousness. Manually shifting the Assemblage Point is the fast way back to normality, high biological energy, improved mental and physical health. Realignment should be done as soon as possible to minimise the possibility of physical damage and disease manifesting as a result of long term imbalance in biological energy distribution.

The shift to the right

This is the most commonly found misalignment, symptoms are compulsive mental and physical activity. The medical diagnosis for this location is STRESS. Excessive feelings of anxiety, panic or anger, are indicators of this location. These are associated with high beta brain-wave frequencies in the left brain. The Assemblage Point moves to the right side of the chest as shown in Fig 3. In Paranoia the location and angle are to the right and down. In mania the location is high right and the angle is upwards. Manic depression and schizophrenia are associated with oscillations and splits in the Assemblage Point location.

Intimidation, worry, overwork, insomnia, Cocaine, LSD, amphetamines, antidepressants, excessive caffeine can drive the stationary assemblage point to the far right. In this position various physical symptoms medically connected with stress will appear. Energy demands are high and sleep will be problematic. High Beta activity is present. The attention is external and the awareness of the physical body is absent. Locations further to the right cause psychotic behaviour that can include violence and sexual deviations. Left brain energy will be high, right brain low.

From this position, drugs, illness or emotional trauma can cause complete exhaustion of the nervous system. The Assemblage Point then drops down towards the critical line as shown in Fig 4. ME is a disease with this location.

Shifting the Assemblage Point to the centre will give immediate back to normal, reducing dependence on drugs.

The shift below

From this location it is virtually impossible to recover without realignment of the Electromagnetic Field.

This a dangerous, uncomfortable, distressing location. The indications are very low mental and physical energy with acute psychological instability and physiological disturbances. Impaired functions of endocrine glands and organs may develop. Frontal brain energy will be low.

With this location serious psychiatric or physical illness will often be present. Diseases associated are AIDS, cancer, ME, meningitis, cerebral thrombosis, apoplexy, clinical depression. As the Assemblage Point moves towards the critical line the symptoms worsen. Beta activity will mostly be absent. Distressing feelings and emotions are prevalent. Sympathy, placation or chastisement does not help.

Toxic material, heavy metals, chemotherapeutic drugs, poisoning, head injury, drugs, attempted suicide, solvent abuse, violent intimidation, physical shock, electric shock, long term exposure to strong electromagnetic and high voltage electrostatic fields, anoxia, infections and disease can drive the Assemblage Point to this location. Antidepressants will not correct this location.

Shifting the location up and over to the centre will immediately alleviate the symptoms. Vibrational levels will increase, more energy will be available even if physiological disease is present. The natural healing process will accelerate.

The shift to the left

Irrational preoccupation with daydreaming, fantasy, hallucinations and melancholia are the most common indicators for this location. LSD and other hallucinogenic drugs can cause a shift to the left. Pseudo religious cult brainwashing methods unconsciously shift the location to the left side (Fig 5).

Shifting the Assemblage point to right of the centre will return normal behaviour. It will increase left brain energy, Beta frequencies and rationality.

Senile dementia, alzheimer's, autism, downs syndrome, coma, are examples where the location will be around the area shown in Fig 6. In the early stages of these diseases regular checks and correction of the Assemblage Point may slow the progress. Astute doctors and clinicians of the future will reverse these diseases by combining Assemblage Point realignment with other therapies.

Death occurs when the Electromagnetic Field collapses, while the Assemblage is above the navel line then there is hope. At the navel there is a weak area, or Gap in the field. By preventing the Assemblage Point from dropping to the Gap, it should be possible to postpone death.

Baby 'Jade'. Kendal. Cumbria. Four month old baby girl - 26 March 1996

26 March 1996. Jade was suffering from contact eczema. Her mother reported to us that the eczema spread all over her body. It originating at her right eye after she received chloramphenicol medication to her right eye, she had a 'sleepy eye' condition. Jade and her mother stayed in hospital and underwent various unsuccessful therapies during which, her mother reported that Jade became increasingly distressed. Her hands and arms were bound and restrained to stop her from scratching away her remaining skin. Other physical symptoms were evident, swollen thyroid and glands, also elimination abnormalities. Her general behaviour was extremely distressing and volatile. She received a short, mild treatment of cool emerald and calming blue sapphire to establish her response.

On the 11 April 1996 there was a 15% general improvement in her condition. She received a full 20-minutes treatment to her skin and liver area. During the treatment Jade became increasingly exuberant.

Photo 2

22 April 1996 illustrates a 50% improvement in her condition after her last treatment, new healthy skin growth establishing more ground. The eczema was contracting back towards the original point of contact, her right eye. This eye was treated using blue and yellow sapphire. Her mother reported that she had more energy than usual after her last treatment.

Photo 3

7 May 1996 shows a 90% improvement including her eye. Her mother reported that it was an absolute joy to have her baby back to normal. She had been ill for so long that she had forgotten how much she enjoyed Jade before.

Tony B. Carnforth, Lancashire. Age 13. 5 March 1996

Four years previously, Tony fell backwards from a high stone wall at his school. He was unconscious and hospitalised for concussion. He suffered headaches and vomiting after regaining consciousness. Later he developed alopecia and eczema at the site of his head injury (parietal bone left side).

His mother reported that he had been a very energetic and extrovert boy before the accident. However, since the accident he had not attended school, developed agoraphobia, insomnia and hardly ever left his bedroom. Over the years he had seen many specialists for various examinations, X-rays and scans. He received extensive treatment from homoeopaths, osteopaths and a physiotherapist with some improvements. More recently, his psychiatrist held the opinion that he was suffering from ME and that he would have to go into hospital for drug tests. His medication was anti-depressants and anti-inflammatory analgesics.

On examination, the location of his Assemblage Point was found very low down on the right side just above the critical line at the navel. (Fig 4 The Shift Below) His depressed attitude, slurred speech, monotone voice and a hunched posture were confirmation of the low location. Tony admitted that he was always staring at the ground. He complained of having no energy and extensive pains.

Tony co-operated, so shifting his Assemblage Point up and across to the central location was easy. He agreed to further treatment with Electronic Gem Therapy. His head trauma, back pains and other complaints received treatment with a strong analgesic mixture of emerald and blue sapphire, with a violet Lamp at a frequency of deep Theta (3.3 HZ) for 30 minutes.

Two weeks later, on his second visit, his mother reported he had been cycling and attending local social functions and that he had been sleeping far better. Tony told us that he had experienced much more energy, but over the last few days, he complained that it had 'dropped away'.

Examination revealed that his Assemblage Point had partially dropped. This is normal with long term misalignment. He received treatment similar to that of his first visit. On his third visit, he arrived on his bicycle (having cycled 12 miles). His complexion, energy, speech and posture were much better. His Assemblage Point had slipped down a little. Tony said that his psychiatrist had noted a significant change in him.

Tony's alignment was corrected 5 times over a 3 month period. Each time the correction distance was less, and the interval between visits was greater. At the time of writing (six months later) Tony is free on pain, sleeping normally, off all drug medication and is taking up extrovert activities, including archery and fishing. Given the length of time that he was ill, his recovery has been remarkable. He has left behind four years of negative states of consciousness. Tony's case is a classic 'Dropped Assemblage Point'. The disruption to his education and personal development is regrettable.

Mrs A B. Yorkshire. Retired. 12 April 1996

This lady had developed eczema with very irritating symptoms 18 months before, following the sudden death of 2 close relatives. She was taking sleeping pills, antihistamine tablets and hydrocortisone ointments. More recently her skin was showing abnormal discoloured patches. The hospital had suggested that it might be skin cancer and that she required tests. She was hot and itching all over her body, also anxious, nervous and angry. Her Assemblage Point was below her right breast and aligned downwards to the right side.

Her Assemblage Point was corrected and she received Electronic Gem Therapy using green filters, emerald and blue sapphire mixture. The Lamps set at a slow relaxing Theta frequency were directed at the crown of her head to interrupt the itching sensations. As treatment went on, the itching and redness subsided. Mrs B required 2 more treatments, after which she was free of all her medications and her husband was "absolutely delighted".

Mr David H. Labourer. 32 years old. Lancashire. 12 October 1994

This strong hard working man complained of being different to other people. He wanted to know why other people avoided his company. He was drinking too much and felt dejected, his behaviour was unpredictable, this was getting him into trouble with the police. He also thought others were afraid of him. He further added that his troubles started some years back, after someone gave him a bang on his head with a lump of wood.

David's alignment was abnormally different to that of the average person (Fig 4) and that it was probably due to his head injury. We pointed this out to him and located his Assemblage Point and realigned it to the chest centre. This was his turning point and as the months passed, his behaviour became more socially acceptable. His misalignment was responsible for his unsociable behaviour, he projected his feelings of paranoia onto external situations, this triggered his incidences involving the police.

Ms Grace R. Lancashire. Born 8th April 1953. 10 October 1995

This educated introvert lady with a rational disposition had been suffering ME for a number of years. She complained that her general health had been gradually deteriorating, presenting chronic tiredness, excessive menstruation, bleeding gums, sore throat and constipation. Grace told us that she was a nutritional vegetarian, had stopped taking her doctors prescribed medications, and had tried various other therapies.

Grace's Assemblage Point location was below her right breast with the alignment at a steep downward angle veering off to the right (Fig 4). Her crown, brow, navel, base and spleen chakras were underactive, her heart chakra was normal but her throat chakra was overactive. Her Assemblage Point had to be corrected and she required Electronic Gem Therapy to energise and balance her chakras. Her throat chakra was calmed with emerald and sapphire mixture. This included a profound 30-minute relaxation therapy, using diamond and blue sapphire to her head at a brain frequency of Theta (3.3HZ).

This single treatment was her 'turning point', shortly after this Grace took up Tai Chi lessons. She has made a full recovery in less than a year.

Assemblage Point shift on ordinary people. (Non pathological)

John C. Engineer. Born 1947. British. 19 January 1987

I read about the assemblage point in Castaneda's book. At the time, I had not realised the full truth of his book. I was under the misunderstanding that shifting the assemblage point was a shift in the mental attitude. The book did not put me in touch with my own assemblage point. I did not realise that the assemblage point was more than a psychological thing.

Attended a workshop by Jon Whale, I was told that the assemblage point was a component of the human aura. I had my assemblage point moved to the centre of my chest and down a little and was surprised at the straight-forwardness of the procedure. I felt no pain.

When straight afterwards, I was asked, "What was I experiencing?" I replied that I did not want to talk about it. This was a notable change from my previous habit of thinking and intellectualizing about almost every experience that comes my way. Since that first shift, I feel much more centred and in touch with my body, also much calmer. I like my new state of consciousness, I am experiencing more, and thinking less. I now have my point moved every few weeks.

Vikki C. London. No other data given. 3 March 1987

Before the shift I felt out of centre, a bit low in my mood, self conscious and anxious. I also felt separated from many people in the group. After the shift, I saw things much differently, I felt centred and easy with myself. My spirit lifted, my eyes got much brighter. I seemed to have more energy and I could feel more empathy with the whole group. I no longer felt anxious and could perceive myself in relation to others differently.

Browen R. London. Physiotherapist/ Therapist. 18 February 1987

Tricky question, "How I felt before and after the point shifting?". The most noticeable thing after I had my point shifted was that I felt even more charged and open, I had more energy. Not only that, I was also more integrated. It was a pleasurable experience, I was more 'aware' more 'alive'. All my senses sharpened, hearing, taste, – food was more subtle and the taste of some food was exquisite. Also my sixth sense became more active and I found that I could tune into other people more easily. In brief, I felt very at peace with people and the world.

Heather C. Surrey. Deer Tribe Medicine Society member. Born 1957.
10 March 1987

I always have my assemblage point shifted before healing and other ceremonies. Normally I don't feel much different afterwards, I am not the best person to talk to for a good report. I really get into moving other peoples' assemblage points and watching their reactions, not only watching, I feel when I move them, I get a hot rush from doing it, it depends how much resistance there is. I am a teacher and organizer. There are many aspects to the path that I have chosen, and I am busy with all of them, I have just got back from America, where I was working with healing plants with Swiftdeer.
